

D - Dancing Donuts

How about tasting a delightful donut?
With sprinkles, frosting, or tasty coconut?

You want a Long John, fritter, or a Bear Claw?
Or how about that jelly filled donut I saw?

You want donuts sweetly sugared, or donut holes, or those new cake donuts... I'd eat one of those.

How about a donut that's chocolate, maybe glazed?
So many types of donuts, my mouth is amazed!

Delicious donuts that make you drool.
A super-duper big donut... that would be cool.

Donuts for breakfast, that sounds just great.
C'mon, Mom put some donuts on my plate.

Donuts! Donuts, dancing in my brain!
Shucks! Mom served broccoli. My tears fell like rain.

Day 3

- 1) What would happen if you ate donuts for every meal?
 - a) You would be healthy and happy.
 - b) You would not be a healthy person.
 - c) You might get sick.
 - d) B and C

- 2) Were donuts dancing in the author's brain? Why?
 - a) Yes, because donuts make the author excited.
 - b) No, because donuts are not alive.
 - c) No, because donuts can't dance very well.
 - d) No, because donuts are not healthy.

- 3) Why would the author say the donuts danced in his head?
 - a) She said that because she was not happy about the broccoli.
 - b) She said that because the donuts were alive.
 - c) She said that because she was thinking about them a lot.
 - d) She said that because she was eating one.